BLEW UP VESSEL TO CHEAT JAPS

Russian Destroyer That Ran Blockade at Port Arthur Is Sacrificed at Chefoo to Keep Her from the Enemy.

SHE BORE DESPATCHES FROM STOESSEL TO CZAR.

Another Series of Desperate Attacks on the Fortress Is Repulsed with an Estimated Loss of 12,000 Killed and Wounded.

CHEFOO, Nov. 15.—The Russians have blown up their torpedo-boat-destroyer Rastoropy, which ran the Japanese blockade at Port Arthur and arrived here early this morning, bearing despatches for the Czar from the beleaguered garrison.

The Rastoropy made her daring trip in the height of a storm. The Japanese fleet was safely passed by the speedy boat, but a flotilla of Japanese torpedo-boats gathered around the mouth of the harbor, and it was feared by the Russian commander that the Rastoropy might be captured. It will be recalled that a Japanese torpedo-boat-destroyer entered this port and forcibly seized the Russian boat, which was dismantled, and then under the protection of the Chinese Government.

To avoid such a move in this case the Russians, with the exception of the Rastoropy, left the destroyer during the afternoon. This last man lit the fuse and blew up the vessel. There were three dull explosions, which were scarcely discernible a hundred yards from the place where they occurred. Almost simultaneously the Rastoropy sank.

A battle ship marks her grave. Prior to the destruction of the boat the Russian Consul had notified the Japanese Consul that her dismantling had been completed, the breech-blocks and ammunition having been removed and her machinery disabled.

During the afternoon the Russian Consul officially notified the Japanese Consul that the destroyer had been driven toward Chefoo by a heavy sea and that it had been decided to disarm her because her machinery had been disabled.

No Sign of Starvation. The Rastoropy entered Chefoo with a music box playing a sprightly air and the savory odor of a breakfast steak apparently testifying to the fact that Port Arthur still enjoys fresh meat. The destroyer sped on like an arrow and anchored a few hundred yards from the United States cruiser New Orleans, flagship of Rear-Admiral Folger, commander of the cruiser squadron of the Asiatic Fleet.

The Chinese cruiser Hai-Yung raised steam within twenty minutes and came close to the Rastoropy. Capt. Ching, of the Hai-Yung, boarded her and held a brief conference with Commander Pelem, Ensign Walworth, Rear-Admiral Folger's aide, desired the Rastoropy immediately, but neither he nor Capt. Ching were invited to enter the cabin, although a blizzard was raging there.

Capt. Ching notified Commander Pelem that twenty-four hours was the limit of the time he could remain armed at Chefoo, after which the Rastoropy would be compelled to disarm. While delivering this ultimatum the Russian sailors, who seemed to be healthy and carefree, continued greasing the torpedo tubes, which were loaded.

Got Despatches Away. Following the conference with Capt. Ching the Rastoropy was moved further in, to the old anchorage of the torpedo-boat destroyer Rastoropy, where the Russian Consul boarded the Rastoropy and brought her despatches ashore.

The Russian officers are all reticent, but they say the condition of Port Arthur is as good as it was two months ago. They denied the report that the cruiser Bayan has been sunk, though they said a shell damaged her engines, which are being repaired.

HIGGINS' CAMPAIGN BILL $22,189

Governor-Elect Holds the High Record for Money Spent by Candidates in New York State Seeking Election.

BIG SUM WENT IN A LUMP TO REPUBLICAN FUND.

Burton Harrison, Who Sought Second Place on Democratic State Ticket, Was Also Liberal with His Money.

ALBANY, Nov. 16.—Governor-elect Higgins certified to-day that his election expenses were $22,189.53. This is the largest sum spent for this purpose within the recollection of the present employees of the Secretary of State's office. Mr. Higgins gave $20,000 to the Republican State Committee, spent $1,000 for campaign literature, $700 for the miscellaneous expenses of his tour through the State, $300 for board at a New York hotel and $42 for Pullman car service.

Former Burton Harrison, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, certified that his election expenses were $8,230.25, of which $5,000 was a contribution to the State Committee. Secretary of State John F. O'Brien, re-elected, spent for campaign purposes $2,310.53.

WHAT IT COST OTHER CANDIDATES TO RUN

Congressman Joseph A. Goulden, although he had a sure thing for reelection in the Bronx, spent $2,125 in his canvass, $2,000 of which went to the district organization, according to his expense account filed in the County Clerk's office to-day. Senator-elect Alfred R. Page's campaign expenses in the Harlem district were $1,750.30.

George Washington Plunkitt, Father of the Tammany Council, got a little of the expense of his losing campaign for Senator out of Richard H. Smith, running for the Assembly in the twenty-third district, with particular reference to John D. Nussbaum was candidate for election on the Tom Watson ticket, but his "entirely" says: "I did not vote for him. The reason is because I moved away a few days before the election into another district. I spent not one cent."

Oscar A. Gage, who was candidate for Assemblyman in the Eighth on the Republican ticket, also spent nothing. Simon G. Levy, People's Party candidate for State Engineer and Surveyor, spent $1,200 for postage and printing in his successful canvass against Richard Van Cort for Assemblyman in the Fifth District.

Prof. Leslie J. Tompkins spent $31.15 for postage and printing in his successful canvass against Richard Van Cort for Assemblyman in the Fifth District.

ODELL TALKS POLITICS WITH ROOSEVELT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Gov. Odell of New York, who arrived in Washington last evening on his way to Old Point Comfort, where he is going for a brief rest, was a guest of President Roosevelt at luncheon to-day at the White House. The President desired to talk with Gov. Odell about New York politics, with particular reference to appointments which he soon will have to make in that State.

Among these is the appointment of a successor to the late Gov. C. B. Smith as postmaster of New York.

NEW YORKERS LOST IN YACHT WRECK

Three Men Reported to Have Gone Down with Craft While Sailing Off the North Carolina Coast.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Nov. 16.—Three New York men are reported to have been lost in the wreck of a yacht near here.

It is further stated that in making an attempt to rescue some members of the life-saving crew were drowned. Neither the identity of the vessel nor the yachtmen lost has been learned.

BRECKINRIDGE STRICKEN.

Ex-Congressman Suffers Second Attack of Apoplexy.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 16.—Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, the noted lawyer and former Congressman from this district, was stricken with apoplexy while at his desk in his office to-day. His condition is considered critical. This is the second attack he has suffered in the last few weeks.

TAX TOO HIGH, SAYS STARIN.

WHITTE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Millionaire John H. Starin, owner of Glen Island, is fighting the assessors of New Rochelle because, he alleged, they have overvalued Glen Island, and to-day he secured a writ of certiorari from Supreme Court Justice Marston for a review of his assessment of $275,000 in the county. Mr. Starin says he is over-assessed.

FAMOUS COLONIAL JEWELS OF STEVENS FAMILY STOLEN

Gems That Once Belonged to Martha Washington Mysteriously Disappear from the Mansion at Castle Point, Hoboken—Intrinsic Value Is $20,000

All of the old family jewels of the famous Stevens family, of Castle Point, Hoboken, have been stolen from Mrs. Caroline D. Alexander, sister of Col. Edwin A. Stevens, the present head of the family, who was the possessor of them through the old family custom of passing them down in a direct line to the bride of the house. Although fifty-five years old, Mrs. Alexander was the last bride in the family and was the custodian of the jewels, which were once worn by Martha Washington.

The discovery of the loss was made last night when Mrs. Alexander went to the jewels in order to have them ready for the marriage of her son, Archibald S. Alexander, whose engagement to Miss Helen Barney, the daughter of Charles Barney, of this city, was recently announced. They were not to be found and the last person to see them was Richard Stevens, the famous tennis player and son of Col. Stevens.

When They Were Last Seen. It has been his custom for years to take charge of the jewels whenever the family moved from place to place, and last summer he distinctly remembers seeing them just before the family started for their summer home at Bernardsville, N. J. Whether he took them to Bernardsville or not he doesn't recollect. The house has been thoroughly searched, however, and also the mansion at Castle Point, without the slightest trace of the gems being found.

The loss that the family has sustained has not become generally known yet and everything is being done to keep it a secret. It leaked out to-day when Chief of Police Hayes, of Hoboken, was summoned to Castle Point and told point blank that the jewels had been stolen and that they must be found. Chief Hayes was instructed to spare no expense in tracing the missing gems, and within an hour he had sent descriptions of them all over the country. This was done with the greatest secrecy, and it has been impossible to obtain a description from anybody connected with the family or the Police Department. The value of the jewels is not given. Their principal value lies in the fact that they are heirlooms. It is said that their intrinsic value is about $20,000.

Mrs. Alexander has lived for years with the family at Castle Point. Only on the rarest occasions has she brought the jewels out and worn them. They were valued so highly by the family that every precaution was taken to protect them, not only from thieves but from any accident which might damage them.

In the mansion at Castle Point there is a vault in which the jewels were kept. Last summer when the family started for Bernardsville the jewels were taken out of this vault, it is said, by Richard Stevens, who meant to take them along. He cannot remember now whether he took them out or not. While the family was away extensive repairs were made at Castle Point and a small army of men have been working there for weeks. If Mr. Stevens took the jewels from the vault and left them in the house, as is now believed, it is thought that some of the workmen may have picked them up. Already a list of every man who was employed about the place during the summer months has been made, and detectives have started out to see them.

It was only yesterday that the family returned from Bernardsville. Mrs. Alexander spoke to her son then about the jewels and said they would have to be cleaned up and made ready for the next bride of the house, Helen

RACEGOERS OFF TO WASHINGTON

About 500 Regulars and Bookmakers Leave on Cavanagh Special to Attend Meeting at Bennings.

ALL HANDS MERRY AS THE TRAIN PULLS OUT.

Due in the Capital at 8.30 To-night, When Books and Form Charts Will Be Made Ready for To-morrow's Opening.

The advance guard of race-track regulars, 500 strong, left here for Washington, D. C., in the Cavanagh special at 3.30 this afternoon to attend the meeting which begins to-morrow at Bennings. The special followed the Congressional Limited and was made up of eight cars, five of which were Pullman coaches, while the other three were day coaches. There were about five hundred all told in the party, and it is doubtful if a merrier crowd ever left this town.

Among the crowd could be recognized all the big bookmakers, who have handled thousands of dollars throughout the six months of racing in this vicinity, and the so-called "dead-liners," who rub the odds as a "piker" flashes a $2 bill on a 100 to 1 shot.

The delegation was certainly a prosperous-looking one. The majority of them wore the grayest kind of clothes, sporty gloves, new derbies, Alpine hats and chewed their cigars.

John C. Cavanagh was about the busiest man of the entire party, and he did not stop until he had seen that everything was all right. After the boat which had left Cortlandt street at 3.30 had discharged its passengers in Jersey City the conductor in charge of the special yelled, "All aboard!" and the "bookies" got aboard. A few minutes later the bell rang and the big locomotive attached to the special began to pull out of the depot while the bookmakers waved their hands a merry farewell to their friends who had gathered at the depot to see them off.

The special is scheduled to pull into Washington, D. C., at 8.30 to-night. Among those who made the trip on the special were the following: Bob Lloyd, Orlando A. Jones, Lou Spill, Joe Blume, J. O. Neill, A. R. Klein, Lou Gilbert, J. Calahan, W. J. Connor, E. Emerson, Dan Donnelly, Frank Eckert, Ed Gaines, Sol Lichtenstein, Max Klein, all members of the Metropolitan Turf Association. Then there were hundreds of others who back the "ponies" from the ground.

SLEUTH SCALDED DURING A RAID

Boiling Water Thrown Into the Face of Detective Dribben While Trying to Enter Alleged Policy-Shop in Brooklyn.

HE WILL PROBABLY BE DISFIGURED FOR LIFE.

Man Believed to Have Thrown the Water When Arrested Gave the Name of John Ennis—Two Raids Made.

The crusade against policy shops, which Commissioner McAdoo intimated last week would soon be started, was begun in Brooklyn this afternoon. Two places were raided.

Detectives Dribben, Murray and Cox went to a cigar store at No. 155 Prospect place. As soon as they entered the door leading to the rear of the store was closed. They started to force their way in, and while they were at work, a man opened a panel in the door and threw a pail of boiling water in Dribben's face. The detective was horribly scalded and will be disfigured for life.

The man who is said to have thrown the water was arrested. He gave his name as John Ennis. Three other persons were taken, John Mason and James Moran, of No. 125 Adelphi street, and Michael Foster, of No. 223 High street.

Detectives Cohen and Currett, of Inspector Wilson's staff, made a raid on the apartments of James Farrell on the second floor of the tenement-house at No. 529 Baltic street. They arrested Farrell, who was in the place with his wife and three children, Grace Farrell, a nineteen-year-old daughter of the prisoner, tried to rescue her father and was subjected with difficulty. In both places a good deal of policy paraphernalia was seized.

JUDGE THROWS OUT MULLIGAN CASE

Waiving Delegate Who Was Accused by an Employer Is Vindicated by Acquittal Before Case Is Really Tried.

Judge Newburger, in Part III of General Sessions, to-day directed a jury to acquit P. J. Mulligan, waiving delegate of the Bricklayers' Union, who had been on trial for two days on the charge of attempted extortion. Mulligan was accused by Otto Schwarzer, a builder, of attempting to collect $574, through threatening a strike, due for waiting time to the men. Schwarzer had bought two lots in the Bronx, in which the foundations had already been placed, and when he proceeded to finish the buildings Mulligan called upon him and said that a former owner owed the money and it must be paid.

"If you don't pay the work won't go on," Mulligan is alleged to have said. The prosecution in the opening address to the Court endeavored to impress the jury with the idea that the case was of a similar character to that of Parks and Weinsamer.

Ex-Justice Alfred Becker for the defense denounced the attempt to prejudice the jury and showed that Mulligan's demand was a business transaction for the recovery of money due as wages on the work and admitted to be due by the prosecution. Judge Newburger declared that there was not the shadow of a case against Mulligan and he directed the jury to acquit.

BURNED SAVING WOMAN.

Two Taken to Hospital After Rescue in Brooklyn House.

Mrs. Kate Hazel, thirty-one years old, of No. 505 De Kalb avenue, Brooklyn, was building a fire in her kitchen to-day when her clothing caught fire. Paul Souza, a neighbor, in trying to save the woman, was himself badly burned. Both were taken to the Brooklyn Hospital, where it is said that the woman will die.

RAND'S FAILURE RAISES HOPES OF NAN PATTERSON

Assistant District-Attorney Admits During Examination of Talesmen that He Has No Witness Who Saw Shooting of Caesar Young While in Cab with Florodora Girl.

FOUR JURYMEN IN THE BOX AT THE CLOSE OF THE FIRST DAY.

The Defendant Hesitated When She First Entered the Court-Room, and Then Unfalteringly Walked to Her Seat, Where She Was Greeted by Her Father.

JURORS TO TRY NAN PATTERSON.

ELLWOOD HENDRICK, married, broker, of No. 25 Pine street; house No. 139 East Forty-sixth street. HARRY L. JOHNSON, married, dry goods at No. 15 Thomas street; house No. 47 West Ninety-eighth street. ROBERT HENRY, retired; house No. 477 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth street. HARVEY J. UBERT, billiard room proprietor at No. 45 Broadway; house No. 143 West Forty-sixth street.

Cheering news to Nan Patterson, on trial for her life, marked the first day of her ordeal. It was the announcement of Assistant District-Attorney Rand that there is no direct evidence that she killed Caesar Young. Contrary to general belief, the District-Attorney has no eye-witnesses to the tragedy, while the defense will be able to call men who have sworn that they saw Young shoot himself.

Mr. Rand's admission was made to a talesman who said that he had not much confidence in circumstantial evidence. Unless an eye-witness, whose existence is not now expected, appears before the close of the trial the State will have to depend entirely upon evidence of a circumstantial nature.

Four jurymen were secured to-day. All were married men and all agreed that the fact that the relations between Caesar Young and the defendant were not such as are sanctioned by law would not prejudice them against her.

OPENING OF THE TRIAL.

The trial of Nan Patterson was just one hour old to-day when the first juror was chosen. He is Ellwood Hendrick, married, a broker, of No. 139 East Forty-sixth street, in business at No. 25 Pine street. Mr. Hendrick is an ideal foreman for a jury in so important a case, and the other eleven men, if they measure up to him, will constitute one of the most remarkable juries that ever sat in a criminal case in this city.

In the special venire of 100 men appear the names of men well known in business and society. Many of the talesmen who were compelled to sit in the stuffy court-room waiting for their call to the witness stand to be questioned by the lawyers were involuntary absentees from the Home Show. Among those from which the Nan Patterson jury will be chosen are: D. Le Roy Dresser, Isaac S. Vanderbilt, James Havemeyer, Benjamin J. Schaeffer, Randall F. Savage, Elwyn C. Sewall, Frederick W. Lord, Philip A. Messer, George Arnats, the millionaire, father of George Arnats, jr., who was injured in the Vanderbilt Cup road race; George Noakes, jr., Simon Brentano, Wilson Potter, Fred R. Corant, Edward Dressler, J. Milton Coramus, Wilson De Peyster, Edward F. J. Gaynor, James A. Hooper, William C. Hyde, William C. Hanna and Ernest Bleeker Manning.

GENERAL PUBLIC EXCLUDED.

Nearly all the talesmen who had been summoned in the special venire were in the court-room when Judge Vernon M. Davis called the case at the request of Assistant District-Attorney Rand. The general public was not admitted to the court-room, to the distress of a crowd that had gathered in the corridor.

The only woman present was Mrs. Clark, the Tomba Angel, who has been a staunch friend and counselor of the accused woman. J. Randolph

WEALTHY MAN A SUICIDE.

Returned from Business at Midday to Kill Himself.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 16.—William Peters, sixty-four years old, of No. 51 Hillside place, Newark, engaged as an insurance agent in New York, ended his life late this afternoon by placing a tube in his mouth and turning on the gas in his room. He returned from Manhattan at noon and when his wife left the house two hours later he went to his room. The tube was fastened about his neck with a string. Gas was still escaping when Herman Heckendorf found the body.

The police could not learn any reason for the man's act. Peters was wealthy and lived in an exclusive residential section. His wife could give no cause.

ROCKEFELLER AFTER THEM.

POCAHONTIC HILLS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Because poachers have been shooting small foxes and turkeys of value in the private park of John D. Rockefeller at Pocahontic, in Northern Westchester, he now has a private army of game warden, who daily patrol the 100-acre domain. Signs have also been erected in the woods and tucked on the warning hunters away.
